OUR MODULES

Reach more citizens, manage their contributions efficiently and base your decisions on reliable data!

Consultations

Make better decisions

4CITIZEN

What is it?

Consultation is a participatory module that gives decision-makers a wider range of solutions to a given issue, thanks to a collective intelligence approach that structures and organizes the proposals. Citizens' contributions make it possible to co-build a more effective final decision that earns stronger buy-in from the people concerned.

Benefits

Consultations are spaces where you can create, enable/disable and manage different participatory processes. What sets them apart from other spaces is their structure in successive stages, each of which can include any of the platform's features.

Surveys

Run surveys and votes

What is it?

The survey makes it possible to collect quantitative data through closed questions. This module covers many uses: for example, running studies or organizing polls. It is a series of methodically asked questions designed to define a case, a situation or a request among a large number of possibilities. A typical use case is a public survey.

Benefits

The survey meets the need to consult a population on a given topic and obtain concrete results. It is a particularly easy tool to get started with and an effective way to build a culture of participation. The survey remains extremely simple to use and helps involve as many users as possible.

Petition

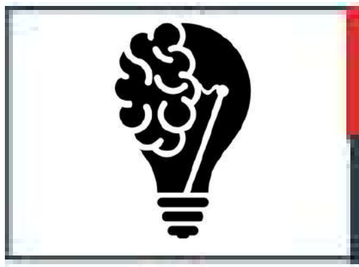

et involved and sign to become an agent of chang

What is it?

The petition module allows organizations to commit to deliberating on a proposal, request or position put forward by a citizen once it has gathered a set number of votes. Citizens have the power of initiative and can, at any time, ask the institution to put a specific topic on the agenda.

Benefits

Petitions allow decision-makers to make a strong commitment to their community by deliberating on a topic that is not on their agenda. The initiative lies with citizens, who can submit their proposal on a given issue. This module is a great way to build trust.

Idea box

Spark creativity

4CITIZEN

What is it?

The idea box is an application that opens a space dedicated to a community's creativity. Everyone can describe an idea that meets a need and vote for other participants' ideas. At the end of the process, the decision-maker can keep and develop the ideas that received the most votes.

Benefits

The idea box is the ideal application for thinking outside the box and unleashing a community's creativity on topics where decision-makers have no set position. By engaging the members of their community, organizations stimulate contributors' creativity and help enrich and broaden the possibilities.

Participatory budg

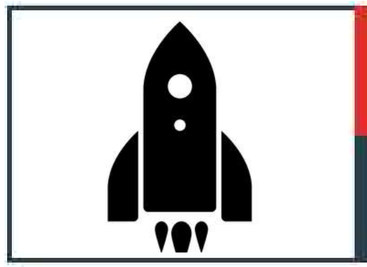

Set aside a budget for reside

What is it?

Participatory budgeting is an application that lets an organization invite the public to propose projects online to energize their community, then vote for the ones the budget administrator plans to fund and carry out.

Benefits

Participatory budgeting is a very popular and potentially highly effective application, because citizens adopt it extremely quickly. The method is simple and the results are tangible. It raises public awareness of civic participation.

Call for projects

Support innovation

4CITIZEN

What is it?

A call for projects is an application that invites a community to propose projects that meet a specific need. Participants can respond to precise specifications and vote for other participants' projects.

Benefits

A call for projects helps you source effective solutions to a need in your area or within your organization. The principle of this application is to identify those who can effectively address needs on targeted issues.

Citizen requests

Let citizens formally refer issues to you across your

What is it?

With the citizen request application, a decision-maker commits to deliberating on any proposal or question that gathers a set number of votes.

Benefits

Citizen requests allow decision-makers to make a strong commitment to their community by deliberating on a topic that is not on their agenda. The initiative lies with citizens, who can speak out on a given issue.

Citizen reporting

An urban issue reporting tool

Un outil de signalements urbains

4CITIZEN

What is it?

The reporting module allows citizens to alert their local government to a problem in public spaces and helps develop civic participation in the area.

Benefits

The citizen reporting application lets you define the report categories you need (roads, street lighting, nuisances...) and speeds up response times thanks to collective intelligence.

4 CITIZEN

WHO WE SERVE

For whom?

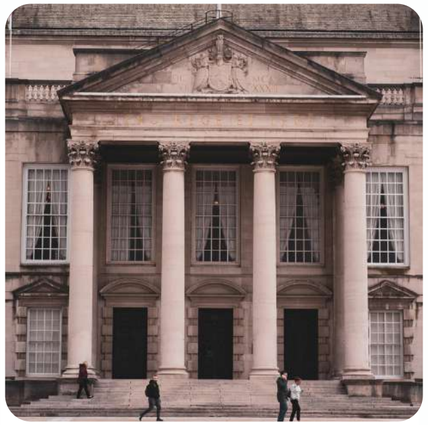

4 CITIZEN is designed for any organization that wants to engage citizens in a participatory process. By specializing in civic engagement, we enable people to play an active role in their local life. Mobilize your users, take time to listen to their expectations and co-build solutions across your organization.

Why?

- Broaden your audience: the citizens who get involved in local decisions are often the same people.
- Reach more citizens: 45% of the users of our platforms are under 35. Meet young people where they are most at home: online!
- Save time: optimize your resources! Ideas are processed on 4 Citizen platforms 75% faster than with traditional methods.
